'They Killed My Husband'

Many of us have understood for the first time in our lives since the awful event in Dallas how much America relies on

Without moderation, we could not have a republic.

Without moderation, none of us could be safe in our homes and on the streets. When Jacqueline Kennedy realized what had happened on that fateful street in Dallas, she said, "Oh my God: They killed my husband. Jack. . . Jack."

"They killed my husband. . ."

THIS IS what many of us understand now for the first time. We know who killed President Kennedy.

Some of us jumped to the conclusion It must have been Communists. Who else would do such a dastardly thing?

Others of us, fearful of the right-wing extremism that has permeated politics in Texas and knowing Mr. Kennedy had gone there to cool off hot political emppers, jumped to a conclusion in the other direction.

We thought immediately of the possibility the assassination had been done by right-wing extremists—the kind of red-hots who pushed around Lyndon Johnson and his wife, who spit on Adlai Stevenson and think it's funny when one of their faction flies an American flag upside down as a signal of distress.

We're beginning to hear now about placards in Dallas calling John F. Kennedy a traitor. We knew the hatred was there. It had grown to serious proportions-serious enough that its victim had gone there to subdue it if he could.

"They killed my husband. Who killed Jacqueline Kennedy's hus-

WE ARE BEGINNING to understand that only extremists could have committed this crime and whether the assassin was an extremist of the left or the right doesn't make any difference, really. The violence of one faction is no less violent than that of the other.

People of good will, human beings who bear malice toward none, have as much to fear from being pushed around, spit upon and shot at by one side as the other. This is what we are beginning to

This nation's hope is moderation.

It is the people's ability to resist the stratification that divides human beings into feudists

It is in having enough restraint in public issues to carry on discussions without flying into a rage.

It is in developing immunity to the impulse to destroy every opponent who seems to be yielding to his own impulse to destroy us.

THE ROLE and function of moderates In our society is to be a buffer between extremists.

Moderates never win pitched battles. They don't know how "to go for the jugular.'

They wouldn't dream of shooting anything out with anyone. They methodically stifle their occasional impulses to resort to violence. They consider all extremists to be "touched in the head." They think the extremist who killed President Kennedy was crazy, and if it turns out he was prompted by someone else they think whoever that was must have been demented,

WHO KILLED John F. Kennedy? One man fired the gun.

But our President was killed by extremism-the same thing that could kill us all and kill the Republic if it cannot

They Are Fighting For Jobs

The rail unions stalling the early death of firemen as a major occupational group in the industry have taken their cue from Mark Twain's remark that "reports of his death were greatly exaggerated."

The "binding arbitration" supposed to have been agreed to last August on the urging of Labor Secretary Wirtz, following passage by Congress of the country's first peacetime arbitration law, fell apart at the first blow. The first blow was an arbitration board's ruling permitting railroads to eliminate the jobs of thousands

Again, it was of no consequence to unlonists that the employer was willing to make provisions for their security if they had job seniority. Again, the union position was that railroads simply had no right to eliminate jobs which have been called unnecessary by every board, commission, court and individual that studied them with a view to operating ef-

So, if it can be done, the unions affected will get back into the courts. They will stall for more time. For this they will be heavily criticized. It will be said they are blocking progress, and so they will be. But to be honestly realistic about it, what did anyone expect them to be when they are fighting for jobs?

Could any legislator, any judge, any commentator honestly say that in his occupational group there would be such a thing as voluntary immolation if they were confronted with the same circum-

Now Is The The Time To Start

A Dallas, Texas, ordinance making it unlawful to possess weapons was declared unconstitutional a few months before President Kennedy was killed.

A county judge said it invaded a natural right that Texans "have never relinquished to their rulers."

But the fact is that a great many Amer-Icans, learning that the gun with which President Kennedy was killed apparently had been bought through the mail, decided this was intolerable failure to control firearms, rulers or no rulers.

We are all familiar with the earnest argument that the constitutional right to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed. But there is growing familiarty with a fact of American life as it has evolved since Revolutionary times. A dangerous minority of those now keeping and bearing arms cheerfully would shoot us down with them; they have no other reason for keeping and bearing them. In states that do not require gun permits and do not register firearms, the net effect of willy-nilly possession of firearms is to declare an open season on the rest of us for trigger-happy loonies who find pleasure in shooting us.

We pay taxes to police departments for shooting them when necessary. We do not shoot them ourselves and rarely possess either the means or the inclination to wage war with them. We like the British idea of outlawing guns per se. The least protection we can hope to have someday is a federal law providing uniform registration for firearms, with provisions for preventing sales to minors, known anarchists, felons, hoodlums and the mentally deranged.

It might take a generation to round up and weed out all illegally possessed firearms, but as long as the job will be tedious anyway now is the time to start.

Lost In The Shuffle

George Meany, president of AFL-CIO, and Victor Riesel, dean of the country's labor reporters, are in significant agree-

Both feel that people who say unionism is perishing because it isn't growing in membership as fast as it should are misinformed. Both say unionism is doing better than all right.

Riesel says statistics showing paid AFL-CIO membership are simply not to be trusted because local unions are "allergic" to handing over money from their members' dues to AFL-CIO. There are more members than appear on the books, in other words.

BUT SOMETHING about unionism could perish though unionism survived and flourished. The union movement could lose what it lost in Britain when it became so closely integrated with the Labour party its leaders were transformed into politicians.

When that began to happen—when labor leaders became Labour party leaderssome of the authenticity went out of their cause. Men who never had done a day's physical work in their lives began to speak in behalf of men with calloused hands. Theorists took the place of practicalists whenever they could crowd in ahead of them. They waged war against the practical men who knew all about unionism and working people but sometimes knew little or nothing about political unionism. another thing entirely.

IN THE United States, events have tended to follow some 50 years behind similar events in Britain-a little closer in recent years.

The U.S. labor movement already is heavily committed to the course of British unionism, but if skeptics within the movement here want to know what looms ahead they can look at Britain's Labour party and a union movement largely engulfed by the politicians who dominate its affairs. Working people and bread-and-butter causes have been lost in the socialistic shuffle.

The Reds Pick Up Some Free Facts

By Victor Riesel

A special international Communist task force haunted the massive AFL-CIO convention. There were at least nine men in the Soviet group, which included several Lenin U n i versity graduates. They were interested in far more than covering the delegates who ranged from Victor Riesel handsome movie hero, Dana Andrews, new president of the Screen Actors Guild, to veteran officials of the Horseshoers International.

The Soviet task force was interested in picking up vital defense production data. They had easy pickings. One department of the AFL-

CIO inadvertently made things quite easy. It published a report, in a small, neatly bound volume, which listed virtually all of America's key naval installations and Atomic Energy Commission facilities.

This booklet was submitted to the AFL-CIO Metal Trades Department by its officers. It has six pages of small print under a heading "Relations With the Navy Department." And there are 16 pages and charts which list 45 ket facilities of the Atomic Energy Commission

The report gives the site, the specific location, the contractor running each development for the government, the specific number of unions in specific departments and the manpower

IT WOULD TAKE the Soviets many months to gather such vital statistics. Nothing could be more significant to a foreign power than the details of the manpower being used at each facility. Such figures can be interpreted by foreign intelligence analysts searching for clues to American concentration on specific projects. Though there was not the slightest intention on the part of the Metal Trades Department officials to do more than brief their second echelon leaders, the charts had listings such as these

"Colorado; Uranium handling and Sampling; Grand Junction; (Contractor) Lucius Pitkin, Inc.; (Employment) 120; (Labor Unions) 1 — Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers - Chemists, 2 - International Brotherhood Teamsters - Samplers, 3 Western Slope Metal Trades Council — Maintenance."

"Kentucky; Gaseous Diffusion Plant; Paducah; Union Carbide Nuclear Co.; 1200, 1 — Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers-Production, Maintenance and Firemen. 2 - United Plant Guard Workers of America -

This Paducah plant was discussed in the convention lobbies as a producer of atomic bombs. Also listed is:

"Nevada Test Site, Nuclear Rocket Development Station: Pan American; 250; 1 - International Brotherhood of Teamsters - Service Supply and Lead Supply Clerks, 2 -Brotherhood of Railway & Steamship Clerks — Clerical, 3 — Transport Workers Union - Mechanics & Service Employees."

THERE ARE similar references in detail to the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory, the Knolls Atomic Power Laboratory in Schenectady and West Milton, N. Y., as well as to the Oak Ridge installations and the Submarine Reactor (Combustion Engineering Co.) in Windsor. Conn.

Nothing was overlooked by the experienced Soviet task force. Its men are skilled at the trade. They included representatives agency, Tass, the Soviet labor publication Trud, the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia. There was also one interna-

OUR OWN counter - intelligence officers were here and observed their operation. But under our laws there is nothing illegal in what the Soviet group did. They are permitted freedom and courtesies denied to our newsmen in Moscow. Our foreign correspondents were not permitted to wander freely through the 13th Congress of the All-Union Central Council of Trades Unions. That national gathering, similar to the AFL-CIO convention, opened on Oct. 28.

Detailed reports of Soviet defense installations and experimental labs and space bases were not distributed. Their production statistics were not reported. Ours were.

I presume there's little we can do about all this. But at least let us put on the record the difference between our system and theirs.

Oswald's Delusions

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)-The picture of Lee Harvey Oswald which emerges so far is that of a crybaby, eelf-centered, undisciplined, half-educated, a mind too poor to understand what he read, and with delusions about himself.

When the facts are all in, he may look different. But this ex-Marine, 24, assassinated after being charged with killing President John F. Kennedy, was a nobody who clearly wanted to be somebody.

It may turn out he was part of a conspiracy. But the information revealed up to this time indicates the exact opposite. He called himself a Marxist with-

The complex culture of South Viet Nam has been neglected and oversimplified in the spate of politico - military news pouring from that troubled land.

Viet Nam's recorded history goes back more than 2,000 years. Originally a tribal group in the rich Red River delta near China, the Vietnamese gradually migrated southward to the fertile Mekong River delta on the tip of Southeast Asia.

The result was development of two great deltas connected by the Annamese mountains and a coastal plain - figuratively, a shoulder pole fixed to rice baskets at each end.

THERE WILL BE much discussion about the implicit phrases of Mr. Johnson's address, for they were indeed significant. He spoke of the need for "tolerance and mutual un-derstanding." The following paragraph especially will long be quoted:

"The time has come for Americans of all races and creeds and political beliefs to understand and to respect one another. So let us put an end to the teaching and the preaching of hate and evil and vio-

"Let us turn away from the fanatics of the far left and the far right, from the apostles of bitterness and bigotry, from those defiant of law, and those who pour venom into our nation's bloodstream." This is but another way of saying that in America the voice of reason can be triumphant over violence and that debate and discussion - and even vehement expressions of opinion-can be phrased to reflect the sincere beliefs of conscientious citizens.

Even in saying this, there is need for self-restraint among those who have become impatient with the slow-moving processes of the law and threaten arbitrary steps to force action.

AS MR. JOHNSON counselled the people to deal with public affairs in a dispassionate mood, he made no reference to the motives of the assassin who took Mr. Kennedy's life. But nobody can logically infer that the mentally unbalanced were inflamed by some personal grievance to seek vengeance and assassinate four of our presidents could be in any way considered typical of the manhood of this or of any other country

Our nation was waiting for words from the new president which would bring confidence and quiet the emotions arising out of our controversies in domestic and foreign issues.

Mr. Johnson met the test. He gave the country and the world assurance that the government of the United States continues to reflect the in both houses of the Congress, and high purposes of the American people unmarred by pendence and the integrity of the tragedies of the last few the legislative branch. Once you decide to do an about - face in your thinking and change your pattern of eating, the actual reducing isn't too difficult. After the first few weeks of eating less food, you will not be hungry in the true. will not be hungry in the true sense of the word.

ONE SPIRITED woman who succeeded in taking off more weight than you will need to lose gives this assurance: "Tell your dieters that after three weeks they will feel satisfied on their smaller meals. I had overeaten for 25 years, overeaten to the extent that I weighed 300 pounds. The doctor told me he would help me only so long as I cooperated."

Now your diet pattern: Sci-Now your diet pattern: Scientific research reveals that the best way to control hunger is to take your food in small, divided leads so that nature can vided loads so that nature can deal with the calories effective-

Slated To Set Housing Pace

WASHINGTON - A leading construction economist has predicted that two-thirds of all housing starts in the 1960's will be concentrated in five geographical areas comprising less than 10 per cent of the land area of the United States.

Dr. George Cline Smith of MacKay - Shields Economics, Inc., of New York City said these five areas will feel the impact of "nearly all the population growth in the current decade", largely because of a nationwide "migration in the direction of water or warmer climates, or both"

The impact on the building materials industries will be profound, Smith said. The five areas of "population explosion" are expected to account for nearly 60 per cent of the new housing market for lumber, twothirds of the plywood market in housing and more than threefourths of housing demand for building board, he stated.

ADDRESSING an annual meeting of the National Lumber Manufacturers Association, Smith, economic adviser to the American lumber industry, identified the five areas due for a heavy concentration of home construction, and the number of units slated for each, as fol-The central Great Lakes re-

Every year, thousands of houses are sold to persons who never before owned their own

The buyers include newlyweds, those who wait until they have saved enough money to make sizable down payments, those whose expanding families force them to find more spacious quarters and, in some cases, retirement couples who have spent all their married lives in apartments.

There are many solid advantages to owning a home. But one thing a home owner discovers is that he must learn to do certain things himself.

He can't call up the superintendent when something goes wrong. In an emergency, he has to make his own decision on what should be done and sometimes carry it out himself.

It's easy enough to telephone for a repair specialist. But even if money had no bearing on the situation, which it does for most persons, telephoning for aid and getting it in a hurry is another

As almost everyone who owns a house can tell you, you can't always get a repair man when you want him, especially if you need him over a weekend. And it is over a weekend when, sad to relate, so many house troubles have a curious way of occurring.

One way to avoid serious trouble in this area is to learn a little something about your

Burbick Is 26th Booth Winner; Bowyer Named MVP

By BOB DUFFY

Review Sports Editor A standing ovation from a crowd of 275 greeted Bruce Burbick and Bob Bowyer as they received the highest awards in local football during the annual banquet honoring the East Liverpool High grid squad Saturday night at Memorial Auditorium.

Burbick, a hard-hitting linebacker and offensive guard, became the 26th winner of the coveted Bill Booth Award sponsored annually by the senior Hi-Y Club. The trophy was presented by Carl A. (Pop) Werner. Floyd McElhaney was the 1962 winner.

Burbick also was named the best offensive lineman and was presented a trophy by Coach Bob Hedmond.

Bob Bowyer, small as fullbacks go but who possessed the heart of a lion, was named the Most Valuable Player of the 1963 season by a vote taken by members of the squad. The award is sponsored by The Review.

In addition to being the recipient of the MVP award, Bowyer also was selected the team's best offensive back. The 165-pound fullback, who stands 5-7, led the team in scoring and was the club's bread and butter man when extra yard was needed.

Bucyrus Driver Hurt When Freight Derails

BUCYRUS, Ohio (AP)-John Seis suffered neck and head injuries about midnight Saturday when two cars of a derailed freight train left an overpass and tumbled onto Seis' vehicle.

Authorities said 15 cars of a 110 - car Pennsylvania Railroad freight train left the tracks over a trestle on U.S. 30N in Bucyrus. Two of the cars went over the trestle and landed on Seis' vehicle

U. S. 30N was expected to be cleared today after being blocked all of Sunday.

BLUEFIELD (10 — Jim Walthall, 37-year-old assistant football coach at West Virginia University, says he's quitting because of differences with head coach Gene Corum.

The Bluefield Daily Telegraph quoted Walthall, offensive backfield coach, as saying that Corum had lost confidence in Walthall's ability to direct the offense.

"Therefore, my position at West Virginia becomes untenable," Walthall said. "For this reason, I believe that in fair ness to all concerned, I should seign from the coaching staff. This is what I am doing. ."

Deer, Jackrabbits Losing Out In Space Age

Moonshot Center Slated In Texas High Of 526 Over Holiday

By MAX B. SKELTON HOUSTON, Tex. (A) - Deer and jackrabbits are losing out to the space age as the new $250 million Manned Spacecraft Center rises over a 1,700-acre tract on the coastal plain outside Houston.

The center's intricate electronic equipment will control America's big jump into space -the Gemini and Apollo manned moonshot efforts.

Launching of the capsules will continue at Cape Canaveral, Fla., but the countdown and flight decisons will be made in Texas, more than 1,500 miles

All the astronauts will train for their moon missions at the Houston center. Many already have purchased homes.

Nerve center of the operations will be the Integrated Missions Control Building on which construction crews have been laboring 16 hours a day.

The three-story structure will contain twin control rooms one on the second floor and a duplicate directly above on the third floor. These rooms will contain equipment for controlling the moon shots, and will be of tracking stations. From them the moonshot capsules are far- living in the general area.

Junior Editors Quiz on-SPHINX

QUESTION: What is a sphinx and what is it's riddle?

* * ANSWER: In the past people knew only a small part of the existing world, but they allowed imagination to fill in the gaps. They visualized people and animals which they had not seen but which they thought might exist somewhere, and made these into legends, paintings and sculpture. Among other such imaginings was the sphinx, a creature which often combined a human head, the body of a lion and the wings of a bird. Different countries had different versions. The Egyptian sphinx had a man's head with a lion's body. The famous sphinx shown in our main picture can still be seen in Egypt after more than 4,800 years.

The Greek Sphinx is told about in Greek literature. It had a woman's head and a lion's body and lived, according to the legends, on a high rock. When travelers passed by, the sphinx asked them this riddle: "What is it that has one voice but becomes four-footed, two-footed and three-footed?" When the travelers failed to answer correctly, the sphinx ate them. But when a king's son, Oedipus, went by, he answered the riddle. The sphinx was so furious she leaped from the cliff and was killed.

FOR YOU TO DO: Try to guess the answer to the sphinx's riddle. In case you can't, here it is: It is a man, because he crawls on four feet when a baby, walks on two when he grows up and uses a cane when old. Try this riddle on your friends.

Debbie Goolsby of Hixson, Tenn., wins today's grand prize of a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review and you too may win a set.
